The signing up of William T. Tilden and his Tennis Tour for an exhibition match at the Exposition Park Courts Thursday night, January 19th at 8:00 P. M., is one of the outstanding sporting events of the winter season in Orlando.

Orlando is fortunate to have the leading tennis player of the world come here on this Tour as this is the only time he has ever appeared in the City Beautiful and this will be the last time he will appear here as he is planning to retire after this tour.

Another feature of the match is the fact that the exhibition is being put on for a general admission price of 50c instead of the customary $1.00 or $2.00 and it is hoped that everyone will take advantage of this special offer and a capacity crowd is anticipated.

There will be a few box seats at $1.00 a piece and a few reserved seats at 75c.

Tilden will have three other high class tennis players with him on this tour and will play singles against Hans Nusslein who is admitted by experts to be one of the best youngsters in the game.

Bruce Barnes who is also with Tilden was former National Intercollegiate Champion and Emmett Pare was former National Clay Court Champion. These two players will also play in the exhibition.

Those people who will not be able to get out for the opening of the exhibition can still come at 9 or 10 o'clock and still see some of the best tennis every exhibited in Orlando.

The schedule of matches for this tour will be:

8:00 P. M. Emmett Pare vs Bruce Barnes.
8:45 P. M. William T. Tilden vs Hans Nusslein
10:00 P. M William T. Tilden & Bruce Barnes vs Hans Nusslein & Emmett Pare

BY
HARRY E. FITZGERALD

Celebrated Sports Writer
A Weekly Feature of the GREETER

E W. "'Gene') Skinner, Warren, Ohio sportsman and writer, arrived in Orlando to-day and solemnly declared he was through with the North once and for all. "I've been coming to Florida for the past twelve years," was his greeting, "and now I'm here for keeps. I like to fish and I love to hunt and I don't know of any place on earth that offers better of both than Florida. I'm checking into this state for keeps. Let's go fishin'."

I had so many things to discuss and so many recent fishing experiences to relate that most of the day passed before we got back to the proposed fishing trip and then we decided to visit all the camps on Lake Apopka, look things over and start our fishing bright and early tomorrow morning.

We drove to Johnson's Camp, Well's Gap Fishing Camp, Jacksons Camp and the Edgewater Club at Winter Garden and every place we went found fishermen embarking or returning and some of them had mighty fine strings of bass. So tomorrow bright and early, as aforesaid, we will hike to the St. John's river and I'll row the boat while 'Gene shows me he has not lost any of the old time skill that made him famous as a bass fisherman.

Angling is an enterprise which has many of the elements of gambling, but the item of chance should be removed from the planting of fish. Newly hatched fry and small fingerlings placed in lakes or streams filled with suckers, gar and rough fish is an out-and-out gamble with nature since the cards are all stacked against the little fellows chances of reaching maturity.

"When we plant a bass six inches long or upwards we have pretty good assurance that this fish will be on hand several years later to view with a critical eye the various dizzy-looking lures tossed in his direction by the rod and reel sport fishermen," says 'Gene Skinner, and 'Gene, by the way, is an eminent authority on fish culture. "Fish of this size," adds 'Gene, "in all probability, will have a chance to reproduce their kind, and, after all, our fishing must to a very large extent depend upon the method of replenishment we use, rather than the hatchery output. The bigger the fish we plant the better their chances to survive and produce more fish."

On Lake Apopka to-day I discussed fishing with a 70 year old enthusiast who hailed from California and whose most vivid experience in life was the landing of a 700 lb. jewfish several years ago. "Shucks!" he grumbled as he untangled his lure from a two pound bass, "This kind of fishing is too tame for an old timer like myself. I want to hook a tarpon, jewfish or marlin that will put up a real fight."

"Who helped you land that 700 pound jewfish?" I asked. "Narry a soul helped me land him, I made him quit fightin' all by myself; of course about seven fellers took hold of the rope and helped me tow him ashore but I caught and conquered him all by myself."—Page Ripley.

In addition to the regular menu, you can make arrangements for bridge luncheons and special dinners without cover charge. Telephone 52-M.

You can have your cake and eat it, too. With a Magnecoil U-Coil in your home, break up colds, prevent Flu, eliminate Neuritis, Lumbago, Rheumatsim. Home Health Appliances, 12 Autrey Arcade, invites you to call for free demonstration.

country club

Mrs. Alma K. Travis is now in charge of the Dining Room. The very finest of service in this department is assured.

For the big Cabaret party slated January 19, we have arranged to import some twenty-five PROFESSIONAL ENTERTAINERS, no home talent. The ballroom will be converted into a Night Club.

Special attention is called to the Sunday night suppers and the regular luncheons being served each day.

For the dinner dances members are urged to procure guest cards for their guests. A non-member resident of Orlando is entitled to but one guest card a year for these social functions. Guest cards are not necessary for the Sunday night suppers and members are urged to take their non-member resident friends frequently to these suppers in order to better acquaint them with our Club facilities.

The weekly card parties for the ladies which have always been popular will be started soon.

fair facts

O. A. McAbee in charge of the concession and display space for the Central Florida Exposition to be held on February 21-25, reports that many of his last year exhibitors have already applied for space this year. Every year more interest is manifest in the local displays as here is the best opportunity to display your merchandise so that the people of Central Florida may see it.

Owing to the fact that the admission has been reduced to 25c, more people are expected this year than last. The visitors this year will also have the oportunity of occupying the grandstand free for two shows each day.

If you have not already done so, it will pay you to get in touch with the Central Florida Exposition Office, phone 4883 and arrange for your space.

Each issue of the Greeter from now until the Fair will bring you items of general interest regarding this big annual event.

W. R. Bill Verigan will supply the pertinent items for the column taking the "meat" so to speak, of events and presenting them to you in tabloid form. Watch for and read FAIR FACTS.

TRADE — BARTER — EXCHANGE

Announcement last week of the opening of a local office of the National Barter Trade Exchange in the Church and Main (Mayer Arcade) Building was received with considerable enthusiasm and the number of potential barterers registering is increasing daily. All preliminary arrangements having been completed the exchange began operation this morning and announced that the office will be open from 8 in the morning till six o'clock each afternoon.

No money is needed to register and secure the cooperation of the Exchange. The National plan as in operation in the leading cities of the country is the simple barter and trading of goods labor, or services that one possesses for goods, labor or services needed.

It is surprising the varied number and kinds of superfluous articles, goods and services listed for exchange that is up to the inception of the new Clearing house remained unknown, and which, if exchanged for necessities, would materially improve general conditions.
